

SHOW ME YOUR FACE

Music by Bob Telson

Lyrics by Lee Breuer

(Jonathan)

Tell me what to say

I'm going crazy

Tell me what to do

I need you so.

Angel of compassion

Please forgive me

Take this sinner back

Into your heart

Don't you think that we could start all over?

With the moment I first saw your face

Oh, when we were young and easy

And love was light and breezy

With kisses sweet that even now I taste

Oh,

(Jonathan)

Show me your face

I know you're here

I can smell your perfume as it drifts through the room

Hear your voice in my ear

Your fingers touch mine

Then you vanish in space

Darling, show me your face.

Come to my arms

squeeze me to death

Won't you kiss me and hold me and rock me and roll me

'Til I've no more breath

My penny from heaven

Of infinite grace

Won't you show me your face.

(Penny)

Oh, darling, desist

Don't take this amiss

But your lovers of late would be clearly irate
If we were to kiss.
I'd melt in your arms
'though I died in disgrace
I'd show you more than my face
Sweep me away
Right off my feet
Unlike Ginger and Fred, we'll dance right into bed
On a movie set street
Remember the time that my heart used to race
And this was my face

(Jonathan)
Touch me again
Like you did then
When I was younger and love was a hungering
Song with no end
Your flame I'll rekindle
Your faith I'll restore
If you touch me once more

(Penny)
One last embrace
'Though you've been cruel
I can't resist any man who persists so
In playing love's fool
Baby, now is the time
And this is the place
To fall flat on your face
